

Physical Therapy

This is a social story about going to my Physical Therapy appointment.

Physical Therapy keeps me healthy and strong!
When I'm strong, I can do my favorite things with my friends and family! I can play, do my homework, and have fun!

My physical therapist may ask me to do different activities during my appointment. When I enter the room, there may be different toys and items that I will use.

My physical therapist may ask me to walk, jump, run, or throw a ball. I can show them how strong I am!

I may even sit on a giant bouncy ball to practice my balance.

I may play with Legos or blocks to make my hands stronger.

I may jump over cones with the help of my physical therapist. This will help with my balance.

Sometimes in Physical Therapy, I might have fun with different textures such as paint, water, or even different fabrics.

Every Physical Therapy appointment is different, so my physical therapist will talk to me about the activities we will do at MY appointment. It will be fun!

I did a great job learning about my appointment with a physical therapist!
